Editing Nomura Report 2016

Nomura has tried to accurately convey the connections between Nomura Group's business activities and its CSR activities

Nomura Group began publishing the Nomura Report, integrating its annual report and Citizenship report, in the fiscal year ended March 31, 2013. We aim to express the relationships between our business activities, governance, and CSR activities to enable all our stakeholders, including clients, shareholders, suppliers, NGOs, and the communities, as well as employees, to understand Nomura Group's economic and social value.

Nomura Group marked its 90th anniversary in December 2015. In this report, we have focused on how we will grow sustainably together with our stakeholders over the next 10 years by presenting our corporate philosophy and vision and our strategy to increase our medium- to long-term corporate value through various perspectives.

In creating this report, we have referred to the International Integrated Reporting Framework proposed by the International Integrated Reporting Council, the GRI Guidelines (G4), and other guidelines and global integrated reporting trends. In addition, some of our CSR data has been verified by an independent third-party organization to enhance reliability.

This report and the Group's website are intended to contribute to deeper dialogue with stakeholders. To this end, we have made an effort to enhance the content even further.
