

Nomura Makes CDP A List for Leadership on Climate Change

Tokyo, December 9, 2020—Nomura Holdings, Inc. today announced that the CDP<sup>1</sup> has named the firm to its 2020 Climate Change A List, recognizing Nomura as a global leader on climate change initiatives and information disclosure.

Nomura was one of 5,800 companies worldwide evaluated by the CDP this year, and one of 270 companies globally, including 53 Japanese companies, named to the prestigious A List. Companies are assessed on their efforts to tackle climate change and ranked in one of eight levels from A to D-.

Nomura's management vision is to achieve sustainable growth by helping resolve social issues. In keeping with this vision, Nomura Group is committed to delivering financial services that contribute to a sustainable world.

By underwriting green bonds, Nomura supports clients' need for climate change related financing as well as providing financial solutions. In addition, Nomura Asset Management promotes sustainable investment.

Nomura is actively engaged in ESG and SDG activities as part of its efforts to "Drive Sustainability." Nomura's selection to the CDP's A List recognizes such initiatives and the firm's proactive approach to information disclosure.

Nomura will continue working to create an affluent society and contribute to sustainable economic growth.
